Talent Management Module

Managing talent is a continuous process that involves several stages, from capturing an employee's career aspirations to updating development plans. The whole process should be carefully handled.

Talent Management module provides a comprehensive solution by automating each phase of the process. It is an easy-to-use system that can be utilized by employees belonging to different work categories, such as employees, reviewers, supervisors, review board members and HR administrators.

Lifecycle of Talent Management Module

The lifecycle of the Talent Management module contains 4 phases, which repeat as a continuous cycle.

1. Capture employee's Career Aspirations

The employees enter their career aspiration details such as mobility details, preferred jobs, long-term career goals and preferred workstation details.

2. Review Talents to identify Top Performers/Future Leaders

In this stage employees are assessed by the assigned reviewer and talent review board in order to identify the top performers/future leaders in the organization.

3. Update the Succession Plan

In this stage talent review board plans about when and how the succession will take place in the organization.

4. Update Individual Development Plans

In this stage the process is completed after updating the individual employee's development plans.
